MEOPERICULO.

Peppered Paragraphs on Things Political if Not Not Otherwise.

BY SENATOR BENJ. SEWELL.

If nobody's noticed you, you must be small;
If nobody's slighted you, you must be tall.
If nobody's bowed to you, you must be low;
If nobody's kissed you, you're ugly, we know;
If nobody's envied you, you're a poor elf;
If nobody's flattered you, flatter yourself;
If nobody's cheated you, you're a knave;
If nobody's hated you, you're a slave;
If nobody's called you a "fool" to your face,
Somebody's wished for your back,
in its place;
If nobody's called you a "tyrant" or "scold," Somebody thinks you of spiritless mould;
If nobody knows of your faults but a "friend"
Nobody will miss you at the world's end;
If nobody clings to your purse like a fawn, Nobody'll run like a hound when it's gone.
If nobody's eaten bread from your store,
Nobody'll call you a miserable
"bore,"
If nobody's slandered you—here is our pen—
Sign yourself NOBODY, cipher
'mong men.

"Prejudiced and unrefined" are epithets that are hurled at me and my articles by those who claim to be unbiased and "finer than dog hair." I have been vaccinated against the festering poison of prejudice, and thought the stuff was injected deep enough to take to an alarming extent; but I could be mistaken, as I, unlike some earthly angels, make no claim to infallibility. If I am not refined, I can not help it, and am not responsible for being deficient in the charms that would shuffle off the graces of nature and crown "meself" with a gold tusk, gouge out my eyes for a pair of flashing spectacles, empty the parlor for a pair of poodle puppies, choke my fingers with diamond-studded rings, and pinch my toes with screeching V shaped shoes. I am plain, blunt Ben, a product of unironed nature, dancing not to the capering shins of showy aristocracy. I am not finer than the country, that produced me; could not be, and if God made a mistake in creating a jagged country that belched forth products of its kind, I am not responsible for it. I have lived all my life in the wooded lands that abound with polecats and skunks.
I have smelt many a one; I have caught many, and if it is "unrefined" to say "stink" and "skunk" I joyfully plead guilty. I have seen buzzard's vomit, and if it is unrefined" to say "puke" I gladly plead guilty to the indictment, and the only defense I can offer in mitigation of my crime is "thunderous brainstorms."

As to the charge of being prejudiced, I might be, but I am not so prejudiced but what I will up and confess. This is more courage and manhood than my accusers have.
No doubt many of my accusers are so deficient in brains that they do not know the first element of prejudice. Any Republican that would get offended at the writings of Lon Hovernal in the Campton Courier has more prejudice about him than sense; any Republican that gets mad at any of the hot-air articles published in any Democratic paper has more prejudice in him than sense. Hotter the articles, the more pleasure I take in reading them, not that I endorse what is said, but because I delight more in viewing a hot, live gentleman than I do in viewing a dead, cold corpse. On the other hand, any Democrat that gets offended at my article is the very imp of downright, hot-headed, narrow-minded prejudice, making politics his god, and the real God his devil. Democrats do not write to please Republicans; they write to make them sweat and squirm. I am a Republican, and a Democratic paper that is so soft-sopped that it can not make me twist and squirm, would not be allowed to disgrace my household.

I read the State Journal, the hottest peppered live baby whining for the spiderish milk of Goebelism in the State. Democrats whose stomachs are too weak to digest each week a dose administered by The Breathitt County News and The Yellow Jacket feed to take a while longer the cleansing purgatives offered by Dr. Ben Sewell in his "Meopericulo."

Columbus Clodpole Fuls has collapsed; L. T. Hovernal seems to have "joined the invisible choir," and now I am all alone, doing and saying like Hargis, "what I please." The news came so suddenly—the announcement that Jim Hargis intended to launch a paper by the name of The Mid-nighter, with one Ounce Hazardous Pollard as chief pen pusher—that I enjoyed for a while a siege of cholera morbus. The name is so appropriate that it strikes me that every feudist, assassin, outlaw and desperado of the State will rejoice and rejoice that they are to have an organ, at least in name, so typical of their cause.
"Do as they damned please in spite of law and the Hogbacks." Immediately after the first issue of The Midnighter I contemplate launching a real, live terror, that will be iconoclastic and bumblebeeistic to a mere-ya-well, and the assassin-knocker will be known as The Hogback. All who want to feast on a full, square meal of fresh hogbacks, that will be well hot peppered and smeared with carbolic acid, will please send names and the necessary spondulix to Judge J. Wise Hagins, the chivalrous and untrifled editor of The Breathitt County News, who has done as much to wrest Breathitt county from misrule and outlaws as any one man in these diggins. Stand by him, or you perish.
Campton, Ky., Aug. 14, '07.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Directions For Compounding Rose Jar.
Household Lore.

To fill a rose jar pluck the petals of full blown roses daily and pack them between layers of salt in a glass or earthenware jar. When all are gathered empty the jar upon a broad platter and loosen the massed petals, that the salt may reach every part. Break lumps and cakes with the fingers until you have disintegrated the mass.

Mix well with the salted roses four drops of oil of rose, ten of oil of chris, twenty of oil of melisse, twenty of oil of eucalyptus, ten of bergamot and two drams of alcohol, one ounce of powdered orris root, half an ounce of violet powder and the same of rose and of heliotrope powder, one-half teaspoonful of mace, a quarter teaspoonful of cinnamon and the same of cloves. Toss and turn the petals until the oils and powders are thoroughly incorporated with them and pack in a clean jar. Cover and set away to ripen. It will be fragrant for years if kept in closely covered jars.

Helpful Hints.

To remove grease spots from carpets use a little pure ox gall.
To clean willow ware scrub with salt water and wipe dry with clean cloth.
Wash furniture before varnishing with hot table beer.
In storing away stove pipe brush over with a gill each of linseed oil and kerosene and a tablespoonful of turpentine.
To clean spots on leather, make a paste of mealy potatoes, vinegar, turpentine and dry mustard. Rub off when dry.

Grape Juice.

Stem the grapes, put in a crock and wash. Cover the grapes with water. Boil till the seeds separate from pulps, then strain through cheesecloth. To every quart of juice add a pint of sugar. Boil until quite a thick sirup and can as any fruit. When ready for use add water so as to make it whatever consistency desired. While boiling do not allow the juice to jelly.

THE STATE FAIR

To Be Held in Louisville
September 16-21.

The State Board of Agriculture, which recently purchased the Douglas Park Jockey Club at Louisville for permanent grounds for the Kentucky State Fair, has not been able to close negotiations because the Title Company employed to clear the title and guarantee it has found that a part of the land bought has been dedicated to public uses, and, therefore, there may be some trouble in closing the roadways; at least there will be a delay of a few months.
In the meantime, the Board has asked the owners of Douglas Park to lease them the park for holding this year's fair with the understanding that as soon as the title is cleared the property will be taken over by the State Board.
This Mr. Cella has declined to do, it is understood, although, there is a probability of the matter being adjusted within a few days.
The State Board is determined that it will not take over the property until the title is perfect. This may mean that the fair this year will be held at Churchill Downs, where it was held last year, instead of on the home grounds of the State Fair as was hoped.

Under any circumstances, the fair is certain to be held at Louisville on the dates mentioned, and we are asked by the State Fair management to say to The News readers that the plans made for the State Fair are maturing rapidly and satisfactorily, and that they can assure every Kentuckian that the fair will be the biggest one ever held in the South in the way of exhibits departments, in the way of amusement features, in the way of music and in the way of attendance.

Mutilated Body Found.

The mutilated body of Charles I. Mead was found last week on Ross Creek, in Estill county, by Isaac Jales, Mead's brother-in-law, who identified the body by the clothing and shoes and two leather bands which Mead wore around his wrists. It was shown at the inquest that Mead had been murdered by being shot, the ball striking him in the back of the head, entering the brain.

It is supposed Mead was murdered for money which he was known to have had on his person.
Mead was wanted in Scott county, Virginia, on the charge of murdering and robbing A. J. Porter of $600 and killing a deputy sheriff who was pursuing him. A reward of $900 had been offered for Mead's arrest by the authorities of Virginia. Sheriff James P. Sizemore, of Lee county, came so near capturing Mead last winter that Mead left the house in which he had been located by the officer with only a portion of his clothes, leaving behind two revolvers which the sheriff secured. This was the last heard of Mead until the finding of the body.

Judge Charles R. McDowell, Democrat, of Danville, and Hon.
D. Gray Falconer, Republican, of Lexington, have been appointed State Election Commissioners for the year 1907. The State Election Commission will meet in Frankfort Wednesday, August 28, to select county commissioners for each county in the State, which will in turn name the precinct officers for the November election.

On account of bad health, S. D.
Fleenor's store is closed temporarily. Any one wanting work left with him or wanting to buy any jewelry will please call on G.
W. Fleenor, who will wait on them.

Arch Cornett, of Daisy, was here on business this week.

John Martin, of Vest, was here Tuesday replenishing his stock of goods.

John Craft and Jo Lovely, of Rousseau, were here on business Tuesday.

The Louisville Herald to Award $10,000 in Prizes

Monday, July 1, The Louisville Daily Herald inaugurated a voting contest, in which $10,000 in prizes will be awarded the women of Kentucky and Indiana. The plan adopted for awarding these prizes is the fairest competitive and so element of "luck," "chance" or "guessing" enters into the plan. The campaign is to be conducted along legitimate competitive lines, and every woman who enters the race will have an equal opportunity to win a first prize whether she resides in Louisville or a town of much smaller size.

The prizes offered by The Herald are the most liberal ever given away by any newspaper in the South. The capital prize of the $10,000 contest is $1,500 in cash. This large amount of money will be given to the woman who secures the largest number of votes in the entire contest, regardless of district limitations.
As the contest runs but a few weeks, the winner of this prize will earn $165.66 per week for nine weeks.
Besides the capital prize there are two other grand prizes, consisting of two 1907 model automobiles. One of these machines is a brand new Acrocar, purchased direct from the factory for the express purpose of awarding it as a prize in The Herald's contest. The other automobile is a runabout model, valued at $500, brand new with every modern improvement, backed by the manufacturers and the local agent. One of these machines will be awarded to a candidate in Louisville, the other to a candidate residing in Kentucky or Indiana, outside of Louisville.
The candidate who secures the largest number of votes of the two automobile winners will be given choice of the machines.

The contest is divided into twenty-five districts. Each district will receive three prizes. The first prize in each district will be a free trip through the Eastern States, including visits to New York, Atlantic City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Norfolk and the Jamestown Exposition. Every cent of the expense of the twenty-five tourists from the time they leave home until they return will be borne by The Herald.

One of these free trips will, then, be awarded to the candidate in each one of the twenty-five districts who secures the largest number of votes in her own particular district. The number of votes accrued candidates in one district has no bearing whatsoever upon the number of votes accorded candidates in other districts. This equalizes the competition and gives every one who enters the race an opportunity to win.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Other After Dinner Speakers May Profit by This Example.

The popular after dinner speaker rose to respond to a toast.
"Gentlemen," he said, "the unexpectedly flattering manner in which your toastmaster has introduced me this evening reminds me of a story which strikes me as being appropriate to the occasion.

"By the way, how many of you have heard the story of the Pennsylvania farmer and the young wolf he bought for a 'coon dog'? Will those who are familiar with it from having listened to it half a dozen times or more please raise their hands?" An overwhelming majority of his auditors raised their hands.

"Thanks, gentlemen," he said. "I shall not inflict it upon you."
With their rapturous applause still ringing in his ears he sat down.
He made the hit of the evening.—
Chicago Tribune.

Guilty!

Bacon—When a man hears a noise and starts suddenly, it is a sign he is guilty of something, is it not?
Egbert—Yes; if it happens to be an automobile horn which startles him it's a sign he's guilty of being on earth!—Yonkers Statesman.

Varied Experience.

The Lady—Yes, I advertised for a cook. You have had experience, I suppose.

The Applicant—Sure, an' Oi have, mum. It's meself as wor-ld'd fer a dozen families in th' last six months, mum.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Too Late.

"What have you to offer to offset these charges?" asked the court severely.

"Not a thing, jedge," replied the prisoner, "not a thing, unless you can get my lawyer to divide. He seen me first."—Chicago Tribune

NEW YORK'S DIVES.

The Lookout Man's Trick When the Police Show Themselves.

Some of the dives about New York that are under the ban of the police have ingenious contrivances for warning occupants and patrons of the approach of a "bull" or any other suspected person. By the way, these places are never referred to in the vernacular as "dives" or "joints," for the vocabulary of the inventors of slang changes as quickly as a word comes into general use, and a place which is now always referred to as a "dump."

Warning of the approach of a policeman or detective is given by means of an electric buzzer. Formerly the push button connected with the buzzer was concealed under the edge of the bar in front or behind a water pipe. This device, however, was discovered by the police, who thereupon on entering a suspected place kept a close watch on the barkeeper and gave him no chance to press the button.

Then came the prong device. This consisted of two small metal prongs projecting from the edge of the wall.
When a man suspected to be a limb of the law entered the door, the barkeeper carelessly placed a coin across the two prongs, thus making a circuit and causing the buzzer to sound in the rear.

This device was discovered, too, so now a lookout is stationed outside the door of a dive. He apparently is a lounger, but he scans closely by a quick glance the faces of every person who enters. If a man doesn't look all right the lookout presses his foot, which has a copper plate nailed to the surface of the cellar doorway outside.
This makes the circuit and causes the buzzer to get busy, so that by the time the "bull" throws open the door the occupants who are wanted by the police have had time to make their escape and those who remain are seated at tables harmlessly drinking beer or engaged in a friendly game of pennuche or whist. Everything is apparently "on the level," and the "bull" is forced to withdraw without having been able to obtain any evidence.—New York Press.

The Camera.

If kodak pictures turn green or yellow in spots, by retipping them at an other printing and placing in the fixing bath again they often can be made perfect.

A BANNER COUNTY

To be Made of Breathitt Sunday Schools.

The Sunday school convention of Magisterial District No. 1 was held in the Christian church Wednesday. Though there was not so very many people out to the sessions, yet the convention was a success. There were some excellent speeches made on various topics concerning the Sunday school and they would have benefitted every one of the members of the various Sunday schools and churches had they been there. One church was not represented by a single person or delegate and several of the speakers failed to come when with a little effort they could have been there. If there is one thing the people dislike it is to have a speaker fail to put in appearance.

In the business meeting a motion was made and carried that Rev. C. M. Summers, president; J. H. Newland, vice president, and P. O. Darthick, secretary and treasurer, the old officers, be re-elected for the ensuing year. The convention then adjourned. This convention is but the beginning of larger things. It is our aim to hold a convention in every Magisterial district and thus place our county as one of the banner counties in this State in Sunday school work.

At Jamestown Exposition--$13 Both Ways.

August 23rd has been designated as Winchester Day at the Jamestown Exposition. Editor
R. R. Perry, of The Sun-Sentinel, has arranged for an excursion leaving Winchester August 20 at noon. The railroad fare for the round trip with privilege of returning via Washington D. C., is $13.00, with a limit of twelve days. This will probably be the best opportunity of the season to attend the exposition.

The Likeliest Kind.
"If dogs could talk, I wonder what sort of remarks they would prefer."
"I imagine they would do best at biding retorts."—Baltimore American.

Ruled Out.
"When I the university shall leave with my diploma, see Me rule the universe!" said he.
Also, he'd no diploma.
—Harper's Weekly.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.

From my pasture, on August 8, one aged bay mare, about 16 hands high, saddle marks across her back and shoulders, short tail. Also, one dark bay mule, 14 hands high, about 2 years old. I will pay reasonable charges to any one taking up said stock and addressing me at Cow Creek, Ky. LEE REYNOLDS.

Don't Miss This Picnic.

L. H. Whitaker is preparing for a large attendance at the picnic to be held at Beech Grove, near Jackson, on Saturday, August 24. Come and bring a friend.
Good music and dancing will be one of the features of the day.
Good order will be maintained and every one can attend with that assurance.

Red-Headed Twins.

John and Robert Caudill, merchants of Cannel City, red-headed twins, accompanied by their wives who are also red-headed twins, are to visit the Jamestown Exposition at the expense of the managers of the exposition. Friends and relatives are often confused as to the identity of the men, so great is the resemblance. The resemblance of their wives is no less remarkable and it is expected that they will attract much attention during their stay at Jamestown.

In this issue of The News will be found the card of Dr. Hardin Hurst, who has located in Jackson for the practice of medicine. Dr.
Hurst has just completed his course at the Kentucky School of Medicine at Louisville and comes well equipped for the practice of his profession. We recommend him to all persons concerned as a young man of high character and well worthy the profession he has chosen.

Miss Ida Mae Riffe left Wednesday to attend the fair at Lexington. She will return via West Liberty where she will spend a few weeks with her home folks.

REV. J. H. HUDSON

Answers a Writer and Makes an Explanation.

EDITOR NEWS:

In the issue of The News of the 9th inst. there appeared in the correspondence from Ned an item from some writer who did not sign his name, in which he said "he went to Buckhorn to attend church by invitation and when he arrived the meeting had begun and was being conducted by a fatalist, and he was not permitted to address the audience."

I do not know who extended the invitation to the gentleman, but I do know it was not given by a so-called fatalist, for the Bible says:
"If any man come among you and bring not the doctrine save that which has already been preached, ask him not into your house, neither bid him God-speed, if you do you are a partaker of his evil deeds." And this is the cause of the so-called fatalist not inviting the gentleman.

At the present time I can not tell whether I will be present at the services to be held at the Harvey grave yard, on the fork, on the fourth Sunday in this month or not, but if I should have the opportunity of doing so I hope I will be invited by a so-called fatalist. Respectfully,
REV. J. H. HUDSON.

Machine Democracy.

In the old times the Democratic party stood for the rights of the people, stood between the people and any organized oppression, stood for an efficient and honest and honorable public service, stood for prompt acquiescence in the will of the people expressed at the polls and for a strict regard for the law as interpreted by the courts.

It seems all these things have passed away. The Democracy of the present day, as expounded and applied by the machine—which, right or wrong, is the Democratic party—is a very different thing altogether. * * * It must inevitably go to disaster when the laws are enforced and honest men are put in office. It can retain power only through such practices as prevailed throughout the city of Louisville in 1905. It can succeed only when the police force of the city becomes the arm of organized violence, protects crooks and thieves, acts as guide for re-peaters, slugs private citizens who dare to resist the decrees of the machine. Democratic success, according to these exponents of modern Democracy, rests solely upon fraud, violence and corruption, and when these things are exposed, when these things are altered and an assurance of fair elections given to the city, then Democratic disaster is inevitable.

To Remove Rust.

For removing rust from polished steel an effective mixture is made by taking ten parts of tin putty, eight parts of prepared buckhorn and 250 parts of spirits of wine.
These ingredients are mixed to a soft paste and rubbed in on the surface until the rust disappears.—Engineer.

Baby Bands.

Take the best parts of soft old woolen underwear and cut two pieces 7 by 8 inches. Stitch the sides together with embroidery silk. Take two pieces of ribbon four inches long for shoulder straps.
This makes a fine cheap band.

Tomato Salad.

For a pretty and most delicious salad use solid ripe tomatoes (as many as persons to be served), wash the tomatoes and scoop out a portion of the centers, filling with crisp chopped cucumbers, then place each tomato on three or four crisp lettuce leaves. Serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing.

Dry Cleaning Hairbrushes.

To clean hairbrushes take a cup of cornmeal and fill the brush, rubbing gently with the hand. As it absorbs the grease and dirt shake it out and use fresh meal till the brush is cleaned thoroughly. This is better than ammonia, as there is no water to injure or loosen the back of the brush.

The Waterfall.

Greene—You often hear of the river falling, but it never seems to hurt itself.

Callow—Well, you see, it always falls in its bed.—Kansas City Times.

Fixing the Blame.

"Don't you think automobile accidents are inexcusably numerous?"
"Of course I do," answered the motor enthusiast. "The public ought to learn to dodge quicker."— Washington Star.

Employs Deaf Mutes Only.
Over on New York's east side a prosperous merchant engaged in the bottling industry makes a specialty of employing deaf mutes in his establishment. These silent hands are reported to be more industrious than is usually the experience with unafflicted labor.
On an average, the deaf mute bottler earns higher wages than his fellow workman, and he is generally more economical than the latter. Both in perceptive and receptive faculties the deaf mutes are said to excel as compared with those not so handicapped.
In point of sobriety, the nonhearing, non-speaking brother is reported to set an enviable example.—New York Press.

A Horse With an Annuity.
A horse with an income is King, formerly owned by the late George C.
Watts. He is now passing his old age on a farm on a monthly allowance of $150 left him by his former owner.
Under the will of Mr. Watts, King was to have an allowance of $200 a year during the period of his usefulness and after that an income of $150 a month until his death. Billy, a pet dog, also received an allowance, but he died last February. Mr. Watts left an estate of $100,000, of which a part will go to charity, but the division of the estate has been delayed pending the death of the horse. King is twenty-one years old.—Chicago Tribune.

Use Only Half Our Brain.
Further and more decisive evidence that the size of the brain bears no necessary relation to mental capacity is the fact that, strictly speaking, all of us use in thinking only one-half of the brain we have.
For the fact is that the brain is a pair of organs consisting of two perfectly matched hemispheres, but only one of them becomes a human brain, that is, a brain with the special mental endowments that are human, while the other remains thoughtless for life. Indeed, cases have been reported by eminent neurologists who had made post mortem examinations of persons who had lived for years after the destruction of one entire hemisphere, without showing any mental defect.
But in each case it was the thoughtless hemisphere that had been ruined.—Dr. William Hanna Thompson in Everybody's.

ciled to the idea of living beyond

GOOD FOR THE COWS

Is the Ordinance Passed By the Trustees.

JACKSON, KY., Aug. 15, '07.

I notice in the issue of The News of last week that the town trustees have passed an ordinance forbidding cows with bells on from running at large in the town at night. This ordinance appears to have been drafted in the interest of the cows, so as to enable them to get into the gardens and fill themselves without being found out. Now, the bells never hurt the gardens, but the cows do. So I think it would be in order for the town trustees to pass another ordinance prohibiting cows from running at large at night, without bells, so as to keep both out.
Some of the people have had their gardens destroyed by the cows.

Move Your Wagon.

It is a violation of the town ordinances to leave wagons on the cutting her throat on Lookout Mountain several months ago.

The evidence was circumstantial, showing that Turner was seen with his wife a short time before her mutilated body was found near the scene of the crime.

THE BLIND TIGERS

Can Not be Closed Unless Juries Do Their Duty.

We were at Crockettville last Saturday trying to assist Squire S. H. Herald to stop the blind tigers in that section. This was our second trip over there in the last three weeks. John Spicer was fined $140 and costs, amounting to about $185; Mrs. Ellen Bowling was fined $50 and costs, amounting to about $55; Eliza Smith $20 and costs, which were either paid or replevied. Squire Herald has succeeded in putting a stop to the sale of whisky in his district, as the above named have quit and obligated themselves to stay quit, and Blackburn Gambill, the only other against whom he has warrants, has gone to Wisconsin.

I am sorry to say that the situation is not in as good shape here.
We have had several jury trials in the last few weeks where the evidence was plain and the instructions of the court equivalent to peremptory, yet the juries have returned verdicts of not guilty. The best we have been able to do is to get a hung jury. In a trial here last Monday the court, after giving the usual instructions, gave the following: "That if the jury believe that the defendant was a manufacturer and in good faith and in the usual course of trade sold whisky by the wholesale in quantities of not less than five gallons delivered at one time and none of it drunk on the premises, they should find him not guilty, but that if the money with which the whisky was paid for, with his knowledge, was made up and the whisky was delivered by him with a view to its division immediately between the contributors, and the transaction was not in good faith, a selling by the wholesale, but a device to evade the operation of the local option law, they should find him guilty."

There were four witnesses in the case who testified that they made up the amount and that one of them gave the defendant $12.50 and that the defendant drew out five gallons of whisky from a barrel into a keg and that the defendant furnished a faucet and funnel and drew out one gallon into one of the witnesses' jugs himself.
Two of the witnesses got a gallon each, another a half gallon and another a quart.

The defendant did not go on the stand, nor did he deny any of the statements of the witnesses, yet the jury in the face of the above evidence and instructions returned a verdict of not guilty. This is one case among several.

Judge Taulbee is doing all he can to put a stop to the illegal sale of whisky, but what can he or the other officers do when confronted by such juries?

Do the citizens of this community want the blind tigers closed?
If so, they must come in and help the officers. They must sit on juries and convict a criminal when he is proven guilty. It seems that many of our jurors are always looking for an excuse or a loop hole to clear the defendant. The law can never be enforced while this is the case. When three or four or more men can go to a place and get a quart or a half gallon or a gallon of whisky each from a whisky shop it is certainly a retail establishment.

I am not disposed to jump on the little tigers unless the big ones can be muzzled. I am in favor of equal justice to all and exclusive privileges to none. If one is allowed to sell whisky let everybody sell that wants to.

Whisky is being sold in this community every day contrary to law, and while several have been tried the juries refuse to convict.
Let the blame rest where it belongs—with the juries.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION

Fancies, Fallacies and Facts About the Science.

WHAT AN EXPERT HAS FOUND

Why New Jersey's Supervisor of Roads Prefers a Lighter Macadam to a Telford Road—How to Build a Good Stone Highway.

From the time of the prophet Isaiah to the present men have had their ideas of a perfect highway. The plans of road engineers have been criticized as newfangled, while they were only aiming at the road that Isaiah saw with prophetic eye when he cried: "Make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and the crooked shall be made straight and the rough places plain." Thus the fancy that a straight road with easy grades is the idea is swept away by the words of Isaiah uttered over 700 years before the Christian era, writes R. A. Meeker, state supervisor of roads, New Jersey, in the Good Roads Magazine.

Later Claudius Appian had his vision of a road that would perpetuate his name, and his dream has been realized. But beyond that he gave—what? The monument of a tyrant who compelled thousands to work for naught and a lasting example of how not to build a road. The Appian Way, famous in picture and story, is avoided over a greater portion of its length by every traveler who is in a hurry to reach his journey's end.

This old Roman's idea of a deep foundation has lived after him, but no experienced road builder adopts it. The old Roman's fancy that it is necessary to build a deep foundation for a road crops out here and there, even at the present time, and is exploited as the best and, in fact, the only true way to build a road. It was not until road builders learned that thoroughly drained earth was the only sure foundation for any kind of road covering that a great advance was made in road construction.

That road improvement is an expensive luxury, something nice to have, but too costly for those who have to work for a living, is the fancy of some, but it is not borne out by experience. In New Jersey every dollar expended for road improvement has added tens and hundreds of dollars to our state's wealth.

The first roads I built were sixteen inches deep, composed of ten inches of telford bottom and six inches of compacted two and one-half inch and one and one-half inch crushed stone and finished with coarse stone screenings. That the foundation of this kind of road lasts is true, but the top wears off much more quickly, and when that is gone every driver avoids the telford road in good weather. I well remember the first sixteen inch telford I ever saw. It was in 1899 at my home city of Plainfield, N. J. We boys were discussing it very learnedly, as we thought. In fact, we were merely rehearsing what we had heard our elders say, when an old Scotchman passed by and, catching the drift of our remarks, said: "Boys, it is wrong. It is a wrong. It is wrong in principle. Here ye have the gravel, an' on it ye put the sma' stone. Along comes the horse and wagon. The horse's hoofs pound the sma' stone an' the wagon wheels grind it till 'twixt the hammer and the anvil, the sma' stones are ground to powder." We laughed at the old Scot, but my experience has since taught me that he was right. Not only is a deep telford more expensive to build, but the road wears rough much sooner than a lighter macadam and is consequently much more expensive to maintain. It is also much harder on horses' feet, as it has no elasticity.

It has been argued that a deep telford road will not be heaved by frost. This is not so. I have seen fourteen inch telford turned upside down by frost so that the large bottom stones were on top of the road, while six inch macadam lay over the same soil and some conditions of travel remained unaltered, the only other difference in construction being that underdrains were placed outside of the macadam, while none was used beside the telford.

To build a good stone road, first grade your hill down to 5 per cent or less if possible; fill up your flats so you have a minimum grade of at least one-half per cent; second, by underdrains cut off all water that may threaten the road; third, give your road a crown of three-quarters inch per foot; fourth, cut out your subgrade, being careful to give it the same curvature as the finished road; fifth, roll the subgrade until it is hard and smooth, carefully removing any spongy or vegetable earth that the rolling may disclose; sixth, spread your bottom course evenly, then roll and add a little binder and continue the rolling until the stones cease to sink or creep in front of the roller; seventh, spread your second course and roll it, with the addition of binder and water, until the whole surface is hard and smooth, carefully filling with stone any depressions that may appear, then finish the whole with a course of three-fourths inch stone and screenings. This must be soaked with water and rolled until a wave of mud is formed in front of the roller, being particularly careful to commence the rolling at the sides and gradually work toward the center. By so doing you will preserve the crown of your road. If this work is well and thoroughly done, you will have a road that is smooth, hard and convenient for travel at all seasons of the year.

Simple Spool Holders.

A simple little device for holding the spool when crocheting is a wire hairpin with the ends bent in at right angles a quarter of an inch above each end. Snap the ends into the holes in a spool or into the sides of a ball, hook the head of the pin over a button on the waist or some other convenient place and run no further risk of soiled wool or silk through dropping.

BUILDING BETTER ROADS.

Construction of Highways Now Recognized Branch of Business.

Road building has now become a branch of business which is destined to play an important part in the future of highways of the United States, says the Architects and Builders' Journal. The construction will no longer be conducted by haphazard methods, but regulated by scientific principles, which apply to this as well as to other improvements.

The development of suburban sections in the neighborhood of large cities has had much to do in creating a demand for better roads, and the appearance of the automobile in increasing numbers has exerted an influence of far-reaching importance in this connection. Men with an eye to possibilities have studied conditions and concluded there should be money in road building besides an added convenience and pleasure to the public. In several cities corporations and companies have been formed and active operations have been started with gratifying results. It has been demonstrated that good roads may be built under organized forces, with proper machinery and other requirements as cheaply as the poorly constructed under the unsatisfactory system of the past. The introduction of bituminous and other modern paving materials has solved the problem of securing smooth and durable highways.

Beginning with suburban drives, this system of modern roadways will extend from town to town in thickly settled sections of the country, and the benefits from the same will be shared by the farmer as well as those who ride or drive for pleasure. Good roads are paying investments, a fact which the American people have been slow to grasp.

DELAWARE EXPERIMENT.

Roadmaking in Which River Sand, Kaolin and Clay Were Used.

In his report of road improvement done in Delaware, State Highway Commissioner Francis A. Price describes a bit of experimental roadmaking in which river sand, kaolin and clay were used for surfacing, says the Good Roads Magazine. At the expense of the local taxpayers the foundation was graded by a scraper, to a slope one one inch to the foot, from the center line to the side ditches, then rolled with a steam roller.

On this foundation four inches of sand were spread, then four inches of clay, which was covered by three inches of sand. These layers were thoroughly mixed by harrowing, then rolled down smooth and hard.

On 100 feet of this road what is described as kaolin sand was spread, and on 300 feet sand from a stream near by was used. For labor and teams the county paid $172.25 and for sand $5.15. The entire cost of this bit of experimental road was at the rate of $2.40 per mile. As a summer and a winter have passed since this road was so treated a fair idea of this treatment should soon be obtainable.

Hunting for Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, eruptions, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed by Jackson Drug Co., 25c.

The Famed Asturias.

Asturias, whence the infant heir apparent of Spain takes his title, no longer exists officially, having become in 1833 the province of Oviedo, but the name survives vigorously in ordinary speech. It is one of the oldest place names in Spain, the Asturias having been famous in Roman times for their martial qualities, for horses prized for the beautiful movement of their limbs, and also, according to one reading of a passage in Lucan, for the pale faces of the gold mining population. Asturias is a region protected by the mountains and it long held out against the Romans and afterward against the Moors, so the speech of the Asturias, known as Bable, is nearer to Latin than other Spanish dialects.

STATE'S ROAD WORK.

Connecticut Will Build Trunk Roads on a Uniform Plan.

Even a year ago the proposition to bond the state of Connecticut for $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 in order to build good roads would have been regarded as visionary. While the automobilists would have been glad of the roads which would result from such a course, it is doubtful if even they would have looked upon such a plan as other than a little too ambitious to go through, and the farmers wouldn't have considered it for a moment. Now the situation has so changed that the farmers are actually asking the committee to report a good sized bond issue to be available for improved roadways at about a million a year, writes a New Haven correspondent of the Boston Transcript.

Connecticut has done much toward acquiring good roads as a state, and yet it is the fact that the state has no system of good roads today worthy the name, and while there are stretches of road in different sections which have been well built and built to last in a general way the expenditure of money does not show.

The basis of the new plan which seems likely to receive the support of the general assembly consists in the state's taking over absolutely all trunk roads. The state will be entirely responsible for these roads, and with an appropriation of a million a year it would be long before Connecticut will have a state-wide network of first class roads. Certain concessions in the matter of choosing the road to be improved will be made to the local authorities, but it must be a trunk road.

The state will go into the roadmaking business on a large scale, will have its own trap rock quarries or take the entire output of private quarries, will have its own stone crushers and all the other necessities for successful roadmaking, will employ its own foremen and inspectors and will go at the whole business on a uniform plan. Not the least of the benefits of the scheme will be the fact that the town will have their own road appropriations intact to spend on roads leading to the trunk lines improved by the state. It is proposed to bring the highway commissioner into even closer touch with the automobilists by giving him an auto in which to travel from town to town overseeing the road building. And, incidentally, all the taxes on autos coming to the state will be spent on good roads, in addition to the proceeds from the bond issue.

Raising From the Grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Foxwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one raising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes state. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at Jackson Drug Co., Price only 25c.

To Build Automobile Roads in Nevada.

A good roads association is reported to have been formed in Nevada for the purpose of stimulating the building of roads exclusively for the use of automobiles in the southern part of the state, where automobiles are becoming the means of rapid transit across the deserts. It is proposed to build, among others, roads from Tonopah to Goldfield to connect the mining camps of Manhattan and Bullfrog and other smaller mining camps, later extending the roads to Waller Lake reservation and then north.

Hay Fever and Summer Colds.

Victims of hay fever will experience great benefit by taking Foley's Honey and Tar, as it stops directly breathing immediately and heals the inflamed air passages, and even if it should fail to cure you it will give you instant relief. The genuine is in a yellow package. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Plan of Farmers to Build Roads.

A number of prominent farmers of Charlestown township, in Clark county, have originated a plan for the building of free gravel roads proposed in that township, says a Jeffersonville (Ind.) correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The bids submitted for the work were so high that the farmers decided to have the work done under their own supervision, thus being assured that it would be done satisfactorily, and save to themselves the profit that ordinarily goes to the contractor. Should this plan work out successfully, as it is believed it will, the roads of the township in Clark county will, adopt it. As far as is known at Jeffersonville, this will be the first time such a plan was ever tried in Indiana.

What a New Jersey Editor Says

M. T. Lynch, editor of the Phillipsburg, N. J., Daily Post, writes: "I have used many kinds of medicines for cough and colds in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I cannot say too much in praise of it." Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

How He Catches Them.

"How does it happen that you are so healthy in so many divorce cases?" "Well," replied the lawyer, "seeing that you are not in my line I'll tell you. I look over the marriage licenses every morning and send my card around to the contracting parties." Judge.

Rural Delivery Notes

Rural Mail Carrier R. S. Johns of Lorain, O., carrier on route No. 1 west has received a powerful motorcycle for use on his route, says the Columbus Dispatch. It is said that Johns is the first to use a motorcycle in the delivery of mail on country routes, and if the experiment proves a success, carrier all over Ohio may take up the idea. It is cheaper than to use a horse after the first cost. Johns has some of the roughest roads in the Lorain section to cover and his route extends some twenty-five miles. In a test run he covered the territory and delivered his usual amount of mail matter in an hour's less time than formerly. He expects to cut this down a half hour more when he becomes thoroughly familiar with his machine.

The rural mail service has developed into a regular institutional bureau, according to a Washington dispatch to the St. Paul Pioneer Press. It is estimated that all the rural carriers are married weekly, and in 90 per cent of the cases the contracting parties are brought together on the rural routes.

Boys, now claims the distinction of employing more women rural carriers than any other postoffice, three out of four routes from that city being served by women. Miss Mollie Stewart, who delivers route No. 2, is said to be the champion broncho rider of the northwest. The postmaster at Boise is enthusiastic over the work of the women carriers, he says, and very particularly of the faithful and popular with the patrons.

Men Past Sixty in Danger

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate glands. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have in twenty years although I am now 61 years old." Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Need of Better Country Roads.

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce, Jamestown, N. Y., Luis Jackson, industrial commissioner of the Erie railroad, recently spoke on the great physical improvements in every line of industry and referred particularly to the cost of hauling crops by teams from farms to railroad stations. Mr. Jackson gave facts and figures along this line secured from data published by the department of agriculture, by which he showed that the average cost of team haul on twenty-three different kinds of agricultural products was 11 cents per 100 pounds, and the average cost per ton mile 23 cents. These figures he thought emphasized the necessity for better roads.

Neighbors Got Fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good health," writes Mrs. Eva Unapher, of Groveton, Stark Co., Ind. This King of cough and cold cures, and healer of the throat and lungs, is guaranteed by Jackson Drug Co., 50c, and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Ambergis.

Ambergis is worth at present $6.58 an ounce. Last year there was used about $120,000 worth of this peculiar substance in the manufacture of perfumes. It is a fatty substance of an ashy gray color with red or yellow streaks in it and is found floating on the sea or taken by whale fishers from the carcasses of the sperm whale. Much is also picked up on the shores of the Bahamas. It is generally agreed that ambergis is secreted by the sperm whale as the result of a disease. It is chiefly brought by scent makers, but is also valuable as a constituent of certain medicines.—London Standard.

The War Airship.

It is a sweet dream, but it will never come true. Humanity will forbid. The week after the empyrean warship is constructed, the Saturday Evening Post thinks, the powers will meet at the Hague and agree that nothing more harmful than pamphlets shall be dropped from the flying monster.

Ten Years in Bed

"For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P. of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

OILED ROADS.

How the Highways in Southern California Are Made Dustless.

Roads are now kept free from dust in so, here California by the application of oil.

It has been found that to place roads in condition through the use of oil is cheaper than maintaining them in half condition during a single season by sprinkling with water. And when a road has once been put into condition with oil it requires but slight additional expenditure to keep it so.

One hundred barrels of oil per mile spread over an area eighteen feet in width will put a road in condition along the extent of the oiled surface and give an excellent roadway, adequate for ordinary traffic. The oil is put on in three applications—the first at the rate of sixty barrels per mile and the two subsequent treatments at the rate of twenty barrels per mile each.

Great care must be taken in delivering the oil. It should be hot when discharged and poured upon a hot surface, so that the work of the oil sprinkling is confined to the heat of the day. The oil cannot be poured on indiscriminately, but must be drilled into the dust as what is drilled into land perched to receive it. If it is not so applied, the oil will not saturate evenly the dust area, but will lie in splashes run together and so make a very imperfect surface.

In order to meet the requirements a machine has been devised. A big tank mounted on four wheels draws a sort of tender box, supported by two wheels, into which is run from the tank a supply of oil. This box has a furnace beneath it, which heats the oil, and at the end of it is a drag looking some thing like a layrake.

A number of curved rods or fingers, drawn out from the bottom, and these are drawn through the dust and along the road. They mark little furrows in the dust, and into these furrows, through a series of pipes, is discharged the oil. A second finger or sort of thumb management extends further back than the dust over the oiled furrow and the surface is then left to absorb, a process which requires about an hour to effect. A roller is then drawn over the oiled width and the first treatment is completed.

Don't accept a cough cure that you may be told is just as good as Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, because it isn't just as good—there is quite a difference. Kennedy's Cough Syrup acts gently upon the bowels and clears the whole system of cough and colds. It promptly relieves inflammation of the throat and allays irritation. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

HOW AUTOS DAMAGE ROADS.

Injury Already Done in Massachusetts Estimated at $50,000.

"It is hard to say what will be the ultimate damage to the roads," said a member of the Massachusetts commission to a representative of the Boston Globe, "but it has recently been estimated by the board that $50,000 damage has been done already by autos.

"This is small in proportion to the cost of the roads, but unless some new method of applying surface is adopted the damage is likely to be continuous—that is, repeated as fast as it is made road.

"There is something about the broad rubber tires of motor vehicles on wheels of small diameter peculiarly damaging to macadam roads. A vacuum is created by the tire which sucks the surface, or binder, from the road, and it is blown away, leaving the stones exposed.

"The commission is experimenting with tar surfacing, which has been used in France successfully. Experiments have also been made by the park commissioners with an oil having an asphalt base. Something new must be adopted, and I have no doubt Massachusetts will not be behind in its adoption."

"We never repent of eating too little" was one of the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, president of the United States, and the rule applies to every one without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Congressman Holson's Campaign.

Captain Richmond P. Holson, recently elected to congress from Alabama, has completed a very interesting trip through his district in the interest of forestry, drainage, road building and improved agriculture in general, says the Good Roads Magazine. Samuel Hill of Seattle, Wash., and Samuel C. Lancaster, consulting engineer of the office of public roads, and other experts of the United States department of agriculture accompanied Captain Holson on this trip. It is believed that much good will result from his campaign and that as soon as the benefits resulting from it, both to the district and to the congressman, are made known other members of congress will inaugurate similar campaigns in their districts.

TWO MINUTE SKETCHES

Sir Isaac Newton.

By J. A. EDGERTON.

A dull boy, he became the greatest mathematical genius of modern times.

In this age of doubt many of our most cherished legends are being assailed, the various apple stories along with the rest. There have been at least three famous apples in history—the one eaten by Adam and Eve, the one shot off his son's head by William Tell and the one whose fall suggested to Sir Isaac Newton the law of gravitation. Despite the scolding of the higher criticism, we still cherish these pippins and are determined to stand by them.

Newton was rather a dull boy and was literally kicked into exertion. He stood at the foot of his class and one day was booied by the boy higher up. The Newtonian spirit was aroused by this indignity, with the result that young Isaac not only whipped the kicker, but determined to go ahead of him in the class. This he did, and more, for he went to the head of the row and stayed there.

The second spur to effort received by the young man came at the time he sought admission to Cambridge university. He knew so little about Euclid that the professor of mathematics opposed admitting him. Newton thereupon determined to know Euclid and succeeded so well that he became the greatest mathematical genius of modern times.

Voltaire started the story of the apple that fell and hit Newton so hard that the young man determined to find out what made it fall. If so great a skeptic as Voltaire could swallow the story, there is no reason why it should not be accepted by the other skeptics.

When Sir Isaac first made his computations on the subject of gravitation, he was misled by the erroneous notions then held of the length of the earth's radius. He therefore abandoned the theory temporarily. Later the error was corrected, when he returned to the subject, completed the demonstration and gave it to the world in his famous "Principia."

In the meantime he had made his most equally famous discoveries concerning light, dividing white light into the primary colors and determining the difference of refraction between them. He also did much in perfecting the telescope, gave to mathematics integral and differential calculus and made other contributions to science which marked him as the chief intellect of his age.

Those who have stomach trouble no matter how slight, should give every possible help to the digestive organs, so that the food may be digested with the least effort. This may be done by taking something that contains natural digestive properties—something like Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Kodol is a preparation of vegetable acids and contains the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It digests what you eat. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.
